Luccala moved to set apart a day to consider the property of tearing down the new Treasury building and creeting another one. Mr. Cam- of Lowndes county, assembled at the court house bursons objected on the ground that there were on the hour appointed, for the purpose of taking many important hills that claimed and should absuch the attention of the house—important to the whole nation, and that the brief period remainting of the session, should be appropriated to Chairman then stated briefly the object of the these subjects. Mr. Lincoln, Mr. Adams and Meeting, after which John Crusoe made a short. other federalists, still insisted that their bill should have preference. Mr. Yell, the democratic representative from Arkansas, moved to take up the bill for the protection of the people of the western fromter from the Indians; he considered that of far more importance than a whig building job in Washington. There being however a majority of federalists present, Mr. Lincola's motion prevailed, and we are informed that the two members who misrepresent this state, voted with him. This is the first move! They have hardly got warm in in their seats, when they vote large sums to fatten some whig architect about the metropohis -and leave a bill to protect our brethren on the frontiers of Arkausus, Louisiana and Missouri, who are surrounded by twenty times their numher of savages, to die upon the calendar for want of time to act on it. It cannot be reached this session, and in the mean time a war may break out on the frontier. Prentiss and Word knew this-but what else can be expected from the sworn partizans of Caly and Webster, one of whom declared "that the settlers on the public land should be driven off at the point of the bayonet," and the other that "he would not vote a dollar to arm the country, if the French were at the gates of the capitol." But the day of retribation is approaching. Prentiss and his shadow -his umbra, as the Romans had it-have but a few months to serve, and at the next election. when the true friends of the South are arrayed. and active and vigilant, these men, who now strut in all the pride of their northern alliances, will be trowned down as unworthy of trust-as alien to our best and most vital interests.

A New Light .-- One of the most ridiculous things we have seen for a long time, is the letter of Mr. John S. Gooch, which made its first appearance in the Brandon Republican. Mr. G. it seems was sent on by the Directors of the Union Bank to procure paper &c. at New York, and on his return home he deemed it his duty to submit to the community his views of matters and things. He undertakes to point out the causes of our financial difficulties and the means by which we may be releived, and finally dances off into a disquisition on the Presidential question. We reccommend Mr. Gooch to give us a new volume on political economy. The reflections of so reherche and polished a writer, so highly gifted with financial talents and so intimately acquainted with the maxims and the history of government, would be received no doubt with unqualified admiration and add lustre to our national literature. We know not which most to admire, the profound wisdom exhibited in the hierabrations of Mr. G. or the rapidity with which he has leaped into notoricty .-We did, indeed, hear at the last session of the Legislature, something of a gentlemen of that name appealing to the democratic members-and parventurly to two influential gentlemen from Marshall-to make him a Director in the Union Bank on account of his stubborn democracy; but this Mr. Gooch, who seems to be furious for Mr. Clay, cannot be the same person. He is doubtless some modern phenomenon, a counterpart of the admirable Crichton, who claims the cognomen of our democratic friend. We trust he will not droop his new-fledged wing, but will give us another letter, ere he soars away on his Pegasus-

Pursuant to public notice, the largest meeting ever held on any public occasion, by the citizens into consideration the depreciated state of our currency: Whoreupon Argyle Campbell Esq. was called to the chair, and John J. Goodwin and Francis Leech, appointed Secretaries. The but forcible and appropriate address. On motion the following gentlemen were appointed by the chair, a committee to offer a preamble and resobutions for the consideration of the meeting: Tho. G. Blewett, Ralph Graves, William H. Gibbs, Nimrod Davis, Jesse Speight, John Crigler, Jno. M. Morgan, Cyrus S. Aikin, William Eckford, John F. Williams, George Vaughan. The committee through their Chairman, Gen. Speight, reported the following preamble and resolutions which were adopted. Whereas a great and unparalleled depreciation has taken place in the value of the currency of this State, not only abroad, but at the very doors of the Banks that issue it, which materially and injuriously effects the interest of the planter, the mechanic and the merchant, by closing the avenues of commerce and trade; lessening the demand for labor, causing agriculture to languish, and thereby greatly increasing the price of all the necessaries and luxuries of life : And whereas, a still greater depreciation is likely to ensue, without any connection with that general cause which has alike visited the whole Union-the suspension of specie payments .- The operations of which was not calculated to effect one section of very tempting, but frequently when men get into the country more than another, without the additional aid of mal-practices on the part of our Banks, not warranted by their charters nor any correct princ ple of banking, and opposed to that moral obligation and justice which should ever characterise the policy and dealings of chartered Institutions, acting under the supreme authority of the Legislature, and sovereign will of the peopie; And whereas, from satisfactory information in the possession of your Committee, a majority of the chartered Banks of this place, have not only withheld their accommodations from the public, except on terms onerous and humiliating to be complied with, but have withheld their exchange also; and some of them have through their agents disposed of the same in distant markets, at a high premium, for funds which were also at a high rate over the currency of this State, and have invested the same in Mississippi Bank notes at a heavy discount ; and have thereby realized large profits to the great detriment of exchange that has to be paid between this and every other State in the Union with which we have any dealings: And whereas, the people have a right to scrutinize into the affairs of chartered Institutions to whom they granted exclusive privileges for specific purposes, it is their duty whenever they have just cause to suspect that the creatures of their creation have transcended the limits the laws have marked out as their boundaries, to guard scrupulously their interest by detecting fraud, and exposing error; therefore, 1. Resolved, That the practice of loaning mo nev by corporations and Banks upon what is termed Cotton Bonds is in violation of the correct and legitimate principles of Banking, derogatory to the true interest of the people, and opposed to the genius of commerce and agricul-

4. Resolved. That it is inexpedient and impolitie for any Bank Director of Director of any Banking association to hold a seat in the Legislature of this State.

5. Resolved, That this meeting consider the Banks chartered under our present banking system, injurious to the best interest of the State.

6. Resolved, That this meeting look on the general Banking law recently adopted by the State of New York as containing the most correct principle of banking consistent with a Republican Government-as it lays open the business of banking to all persons possessing capital who wish to engage in it; thus preventing monopolies or giving to individuals a fictitious capital and credit, which neither their means or character entitle them to.

7. Resolved, That after mature deliberation this meeting believe that a law similar to the New York general Banking law, would be productive of much good to our State, as it would enable all citizens possessed of unincumbered real estate an opportunity of realising an additional interest of their property, by investing it in stocks under this law, thereby lessening our dependence on foreigners for capital, and giving their note holders undoubted security, for the redemption of notes issued under such a system. 8. Resolved, That a Committee of six be appointed by the chair to draft a memorial and to obtain signatures, praying our Legislature to use their best exertions to reform the present banking system of this State; to fix an early day for the resumption of specie payments by them, and that in all cases where they do not comply with such a law, that forfeiture of their charters should be the consequence, and also, that a law, similar to lution unanimously requesting the Doctor to furnish | the New York General Banking Law will be adopted by the State of Mississippi.

Resolved, That the preamble and resolutions, together with the proceedings of this meeting, be signed by the Chairman and Secretaries, and published in both the newspapers of Columbus.

Resolved, That the thanks of this meeting be tendered to the Chairman and Secretaries.

The following gentlemen were appointed committee to act under the eighth resolution, viz: Francis Leech, Gen. Spright, John Crusoe, S. S. Franklin, Henry Dickinson and John J. Goodwin.

On motion the meeting then adjourned sine die.

THE SAYINGS OF AN AGED MAN. I think we ought to fly from the pleasures of tolay lest they bring pain to-morrow. It is the bright day that breeds the adder. One bright day is over. and it has left us to groze and sweat with our difficulties. Our banks once discounted freely; property rose in many instances to ten times its value, and money was plenty. That was indeed a bright day! But a final scuttement came and found many in the

The extravarance of the times may be illustrated by the lable of the two bees: One was wise and cauions the other careless and extravagant. They and plenty of leagrant flowers and delicious fruits to regule themselves on. But at length they found a vide-mouthed plant filled with honey exposed to their taste in the most alluring manner. The extravagant bee in spite of all his friend's remonstranees, plunged headlong into the vessel, resolving to indules himself in all the pleasures of sensuality The other bee being suspicious of danger, supped little with caution, and flew to his profit; and flowers The bread that honest labor gets may be cut it peace; but the thoughtless and sensual boe that plunged headlong in, found that he was surfeited clogged in his wings, enfectled in his feet, his whole frame totally enervated and incapable of extracating upself; so he had to lament with his latest breath, the folly of this imprudent act. A taste of pleasure may quicken the relish of life, but an unrestrained adultence is inevitable destruction. Is not this a good illustration of the conduct of some men in our day! The banks are wide-mouthed and their money them, it its hard to get out.

To the Voters of Loundes County.

Fernow-Cruzens:-Having resigned the sea ith which you henored me in your State Legisla ture, I believe it my duty to inform you of the same and to give you, in part, the reasons that led me to take this important step.

From the result of the recent election held in our ounty for representatives to Congress, as well as who believe that I am in the minority; and should continue to discharge the duties of the station with which I have been henored, I should represent the minerity and not the majority; I therefore have been led to resign my seat in the State Legislature.

I now declare myself a candidate for the same provable station, and respectfully solicit the suffraon of that portion of the treemen of Lowndes couny; without distinction of party, who believe I did, if the last session of the Lagislature, endeavor to carry into effect the principles for which I contended previous to my being elected last fall. Gentlemen, our citizens, who, being large consumers are of I have no new political sentiments to offer. As I course considered loosers by the heavy rate of lawe seen no reason to change those I possessed hen I mw and conversed with you last; I am now I was then, the warm friend of our worthy Sena-r in Congress, the Hon. James F. Teovice; and comore now, as I did last fall, should I be elected, support him for the same high station that he now occupies, should be continue to assist in carrying in-to effect those patriotic principles, in which I believe is at this time engaged.

With regard to a National Bank, in connection with the Government, I am as much as ever opposed to it; and should feel as much gratified at the peedy return of the various moneyed institutions of e country to the redemption of their issues with gold and silver, as any individual; and will go as far, in any reasonable way, as he who will go farhest, to accomplish this desirable object. Believing that there are some of my fellow-citizens who think it wrong that the two offices of representative and Bank Director should be held by the same person, I have dissolved my connection with the Tombigby Rail Road Bank, as director. And as I am on the subject of the Banks, I hope it will not be considered impredent for me to make a few remarks relative to the course I pursued with regard were made to pass laws which I did believe, if passed, would not only be advantageous to the Banks. but unconstitutional and unjust, some few of which it may not be amiss to mention. There was a bill passed through both branches of the Legislature to duce the damages imposed on various Banks in his State from twelve and a half to eight per cent This bill I opposed throughout. I also opposed a bill authorizing the Banks to issue small notes. During the two sessions in which I have served, I was often solicited to assist in chartering moneyed institutions, but I have yet to vote for the first bank charter. And as I have not yet given a vote of this kind, the wants of the country, for banking facilisties, must be very much increased before I will give one. My course towards the banks, has beretofore been mid; and it is yet my opinion that it will be to the advantage of the country to use the banks lawfully, and not to abuse them. And I will now my in conclusion, that I do believe I never shall be o deeply interested in, or so much prejudices gainst any lawful institution, as to influence use to iolate a piedge made, or sacrifice a trust committed SAMUEL BUTLER. o my care. changing the schedules, but not so as to increase the xpedition, without making the additional compenation nutberized by law. The mails are to leave precisely at the time set. Five minutes only are allowed for opening and osing them at an intermediate office. The pay of the trip will be forfeited by a failure to arrive in time. And this forfeiture may be increased into a penalty not exceeding ten times the pay of the trip, according to the circumstances un-der which the failure happened. For a repetition of alleres, the contract may be annulled.

No excess whatever will be taken for a failure. Departures and arrivals are to be regulated by the apparent or sun time.

Double stock will be paid for, where it is actually employed, when the mail regularly exceeds seventy pounds in weight. If it should become necessary, at any time, to discontinue the service, (a result which is not expect-ed,) the contractors will be entitled to receive two months' extra pay.

The proposals should be sent to the Department scaled, endorsed "Proposals for the Express Mail," and addressed to the First Assistant Postmaster General, S. R. Hobbic.

Those who chter into this service must make up their minds not to let bad roads, nor storms, no floods, nor casualties, nor dangers, prevent their performance according to contract. AMOS KENDALL.
